ROCK ISLAND.

By Its Acquisition of the Seaboard Air-Line It becomes the Largest Railway System in the World.

New York, Aug. 13.—The deal consummated yesterday, by which the Rock Island interests acquire the practical control of the Seaboard Air-line, gives the former road 2,600 more miles of rail, a steamship line from Florida to Cuba and one from Norfolk to Baltimore.

The deal also takes away the individuality of the last independent railroad in the South. It puts Rock Island trains over controlled roads into Washington, Tampa, Norfolk, Wilmington, Savannah and Jacksonville on the Atlantic seaboard.

Junction with the Rock Island system will be made at Birmingham over the Frisco. By traffic agreements Rock Island trains can even enter New York over the Baltimore & Ohio from Washington.

Rock Island this becomes in mileage, capital, extent and richness of territory traversed the greatest railroad system in the world. Its mileage amounts to almost 20,000, and it exceeds by many hundred miles the great Pennsylvania and New York Central systems.

No Change in Management.
Official announcement is made that the present management of the Seaboard Air-line will be continued the property being operated separately by the Rock Island.

The Seaboard Air-line will land freight for the Rock Island into New York city also by way of the Old Dominion Steamship lines, with which it has a working agreement.

The new Rock Island property is capitalized at $125,000,000, including $75,000,000 of bonds. Of these bonds $10,000,000 are to be used for the construction of the new line between Atlanta and Birmingham.

Of this last issue $6,000,000 were sold in April of this year, and it is understood the balance of $4,000,000 has recently been purchased by a syndicate made up of J. P. Morgan the First National Bank and J. H. Blair. The Seaboard owns its entire trackage as far north as Richmond, Va. From Richmond to Washington it has one, sixth interest in the Richmond & Washington railroad over which all the Southern systems enter the capital.

The Rock Island now extends from the Atlantic west through Birmingham, over the Frisco to St. Louis, Memphis and New Orleans, and by way of the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf to Western Texas, where it taps its main line leading from Chicago to El Paso. It also goes west to Denver and Colorado Springs. It touches Kansas City, Omaha and St. Paul, and extends far into the Dakotas. It has a no grade railway along the Mississippi valley from Chicago south by way of Chicago & Eastern Illinois and the Evansville & Terre Haute. It reaches the Pacific coast over the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific lines.

TOO MUCH "HIAWATHA."

Kansas Man Runs Amuck at a Band Concert.

Winfield, Kansas, Aug. 14.—Angered by the music of a band concert Gilbert Twigg, once a soldier in the Philippines, armed himself last night with a double-barreled shotgun and a revolver, and attacked a crowd of 3,000 persons that surrounded the band stand, killing three men, probably fatally wounding three others and injuring twenty more before he was shot by a policeman. Beside Twigg, the dead are Sterling Rice, Dawson Tolleson and D. Bowman. The band had just finished playing "Hiawatha" when Twigg came up and fired both barrels of the shotgun at the bandstand. Before the policeman shot him Twigg succeeded in getting in three more shots.

The Democratic Committee Saturday recommended the following Democrats for appointment as election commissioners: W. T. Cooper, L. C. Cravens, C. L. Dade, David Smith and W. W. Radford. One of the five will be appointed Commissioner for this county.

EVERYBODY'S GOING

To the State Fair at Owensboro Next Month.

And See the Great Exhibits For Which $20,000 Cash Prizes Will be Given.

The great Kentucky State Fair, easily the biggest in the South, is only five weeks off, and as September 21st approaches the interest increases rapidly. The enterprising city of Owensboro is on the bustle as it has not been before in years, and there is going to be a show that no citizen of Kentucky can afford to miss. Many of the State's exhibits for the St. Louis Exposition will first be seen at the State Fair at Owensboro next month, and the fact that many of the prize winning exhibits will be sent to the World's Fair next year will prove an additional incentive to every one. Cash amounting to more than $20,000 will be distributed in prizes for all kinds of stock, farm and mineral products, household work and other exhibits.

Send to L. B. Shropshire, Secretary, Board of Trade Building, Louisville, for catalogue or information.

BANK OF CROFTON.

Financial Institution to be Opened in That Town.

Crofton is to have a bank. The capital stock will be $15,000 and all of the stock has been taken. Mr. John M. Dallas is the chief promoter of the enterprise. Several Hopkinsville people are stockholders and the rest are Crofton parties. The stockholders will hold a meeting Aug. 25 at 10 a. m. for the purpose of electing directors, who will choose officers. Mr. A. Bradley Croft will likely be made President. The parties interested have an option on five lots in the town and one of them will be selected for the building. The bank will be a two-story brick and will be elegantly furnished.

FAIRLEIGH'S FALL.

Thrown in Sink-Hole and Ankle Was Broken.

Mr. Fairleigh Vaughan, the well-known stye contractor, fell in a sink-hole at Trenton Thursday night and fractured an ankle. Mr. Vaughan was superintending the work of metaling the streets of Trenton. One of his teams became frightened and in attempting to catch the mules he was thrown in the hole, which is about ten feet deep.

Mr. Vaughan was brought to the home of his father, in this city, Friday night, and is doing quite well, but it will be some time before he will be able to resume work.

SUDDEN DEATH

Of Aged Lady Few Miles South of City.

Miss Sarah Edmunds, aged 75 years, died at the home of Mr. W. Atkins, a few miles southwest of the city Friday. She was only ill a few hours. She was a member of the Baptist church.

The interment took place in the family burying ground, near Trenton, Saturday.

HARMONY

With a Vengeance, In the Removal of Chairman Gary.

Work Accomplished By Proxies Which Did Not State What Was Contemplated.

Chairman Geo. E. Gary has lost his position as the chairman of the Democratic county committee, of which he has been a member for nearly ten years, because he dared to support Judge C. H. Bush for circuit judge against the wishes of the eminent statesmen who have been entrusted with the duty of "harmonizing" the Democratic party, by providing places for themselves and their kinsmen. It will be remembered that Mr. Gary was elected chairman last April, to succeed Mr. Geo. V. Green, who had rendered himself ineligible and whose hostility to the Christian county candidate made his immediate removal necessary, in the opinion of Judge Bush's friends.

Geo. E. Gary.

After Mr. Green had been removed, a hue and cry was raised upon the ground that he had been removed "without cause." The party law provides that a chairman may be deposed at pleasure, but a committeeman cannot be removed from the committee without cause. Mr. Green was not a member of the committee, and his removal as chairman was within the law. During the heat of the contest the machine undertook to gather enough proxies from absent members to re-elect Mr. Green, but failed and finally proposed to recognize Mr. Gary as chairman without dispute if he would agree to call a meeting of the committee after the contest was over and let the full membership consider the chairmanship. This agreement was entered into, but broken promptly by the Green faction, whose newspaper organ repeatedly disputed Mr. Gary's right to the chairmanship and has persistently refused to recognize him as chairman, except to obey his call for a meeting.

It may be added here in passing that the removal Saturday was without any cause whatever, except to make warfare on Bush's friends, after Bush himself had been triggered out of his nomination. The question of "cause" has not been raised this time.

When the committee met Saturday the Green faction had on hand 11 or 12 members and proxies. Two former country members, who now live in the city, were brought in and allowed to vote for precincts they no longer represented. Two other proxies from men who have never been elected committeemen, or attended a meeting, were produced. With these four, a total of 15 votes, were on hand, though less than half of them were present in person. Of the anti-machine members, 7 were present in person, 4 by proxy and one absent.

Chairman Gary, after transacting the business for which the meeting was called, the selection of five names to be recommended to the election board, called attention to the chairmanship and told the committee to take such action as it desired in regard to removing him.

A motion was made by Mr. J. T. Chilton to declare the office of chairman vacant.

In putting the motion the chairman made the statement that he wanted the responsibility for this action placed where it properly belonged. That Mr. Geo. Green and his son-in-law, Mr. Ashby Edmunds, had put in the entire week visiting the members of the committee, obtaining proxies to accomplish his removal as a piece of pure personal spite for his (Green's) removal in April, which was accomplished in order to give Judge Bush representation in count at Eddyville. The chair ignored the patent illegality of a number of votes that were cast, also that the proxies did not provide for his removal and the further fact that no cause whatever was assigned for the act, which of itself makes the action void, according to the contention of the Green faction. This statement was made with Messrs. Green and Edmunds both present, they having refused to vacate at the request of the chair for an executive session, but remained throughout the proceedings, industriously circulating among the members, coaching the uninformed and spurring the timid into action. The Chilton motion was adopted by a vote of 15 to 9. Mr. Gary and some of his friends not voting.

The committee then elected Councilman James West chairman. He received 12 votes to 6 cast for Mr. W. W. Radford. Mr. West was one of Judge Cook's strongest supporters in the recent contest. Mr. Radford also was a Cook man. Mr. West appeared and accepted the honor.

Judge Bush's friends on the committee are indignant at the treatment accorded Mr. Gary. It is due to Mr. Gary to say that he conducted himself like the gentleman he is throughout it all. He raised no protest, even when those not members of the committee cast illegal votes against him. He was willing to let the machine manage its campaign in its own way.

If arriving notice upon Mr. Gary and 1,600 Democrats who voted for Bush, that they are not wanted in politics this year is the wise course to pursue, the credit for the "harmony" brought about is due

Col. Ashby Edmunds and his lieutenants, whose shoulder straps are to be the guiding stars of the Democracy party, in the victory its "boys in the trenches" are to win in November.

ANNIE OAKLEY IN PRISON.

Famous Shot of Buffalo Bill's Show Steals by Buys Cocaine.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Annie Oakley, daughter-in-law of Buffalo Bill, and the most famous woman rifle shot in the world, lies in a cell at the Harrison street station, under a Bridewell sentence for stealing the trousers of a negro in order to get money with which to buy cocaine.

This is the woman for whose spectacular marksmanship King Edward himself once led the applause in the court yard of Buckingham Palace.

When arrested Saturday on the complaint of Charles Curtis, a negro, she was living at 140 Sheridan street, she gave the name of Elizabeth Cody, but it occurred to no one to connect her with Col. Cody's famous daughter-in-law. However, when brought before Justice Caverly, she admitted her guilt.

"I plead guilty, your honor, but I hope you will have pity on me," she begged. "An uncontrollable appetite for drugs has brought me here. I began the use of it years ago to steady me under the strain of the life I was leading, and now I have lost me everything. Please give me a chance to pull myself together."

The striking beauty of the woman whom the crowds at the world's fair admired, is gone. Although she is only twenty-eight years old, she looks almost forty. Hers, in fact, is one of the extreme cases which have come up in the Harrison street police court. She will be taken to Bridewell to serve out a sentence of 45 days and costs.

"A good long stay in the Bridewell will do you good," said the court.

The prisoner's husband, Samuel Cody, died in England. Their son, Vivien, is now with Col. Cody at the latter's ranch on the North Platte. The mother left Buffalo Bill two years ago and has since been drifting around the country with stray shows.

Doctors Meet.

The County Medical Society held a meeting Monday at 10 a. m., in the office of Dr. B. F. Eager. The attendance was large. A most excellent paper was read by Dr. J. E. Stone, of Herndon, on Appendicitis. The discussion that followed was very interesting and helpful. This society is steadily growing in membership and interest.

All regular physicians and those "who do not practice or claim to practice sectarian medicine" are invited to membership.

The next paper will be presented by Dr. E. C. Anderson on the third Monday in September.

WILL ECLIPSE ALL OTHERS.

Kentucky Building and Display of State's Products and Resources.

The plans of the Kentucky Exhibit Association, looking to a big advertisement of the State, industrially, commercially, and naturally, at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in St. Louis next year, are rapidly maturing. Ground has just been broken for the State building on the best site on the grounds for a structure of the kind, and the heads of the different departments are now actively engaged in collecting material for the exhibits in the main places of the big show.

The Kentucky building is acknowledged by the leading architects and contractors of the exposition to be the handsomest and most attractive of all the state buildings that have yet been begun. As to the displays to be made in the different departments, there is no telling how extensive and profitable the advertisement will become. Thousands of square feet of space have been reserved for the "New Kentucky"—6,000 for minerals, 5,000 for tobacco, 5,000 for other agricultural products, 3,000 for horticulture, 3,000 for forestry, 2,500 for education, hundreds of stalls for live stock and individual space for machinery, liberal arts, transportation, varied industries, manufactures, etc., etc.

The Kentucky Exhibit Association is losing no time in getting these exhibits ready. M. F. Johnson is now making a tour of the state to see what counties will be represented in the agricultural and horticultural exhibits. W. U. Grider has just completed a visit to practically all the mineral counties and secured the promise of the best in every classification. Wm. Bona will start out in a few days to gather the most attractive woods, commercially and otherwise, for the forestry display. Chas. D. Campbell is devoting two days each week to meeting the tobacco trade in the different sections and getting the most striking samples of "the weed." Prof. H. G. Brownell has just called on all the county and city school superintendents to learn what districts may be depended on for educational displays. L. L. Dorsey has issued a circular to every member of his committee on live stock—125 in all—asking for information as to the number of stalls that will be needed. The World's Fair officials have offered $25,000 in premiums on live stock and Kentucky should be able to bring back a big bunch of this money taken on her horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, chickens, etc., etc. The Exhibit Association is contemplating paying the entire expense of stock sent from the state to the exposition and also awarding medals in the name of Kentucky to all prize winners.

Up to this time the Association has raised about $30,000, the solicitation having been done largely by mail. There are many counties that have not subscribed their apportionment of the $100,000 and the secretary of the organization is seeking to cover these in brief personal canvasses. Within the past month he has visited Frankfort, Lancaster, Richmond, Winchester, Paris, Lebanon, Stanford, Danville, Lexington, Covington, Newport, Springfield, Bardonia, etc., and has everywhere met the greatest encouragement.

The association needs many thousands of dollars more to be able to put into effect all its plans, and it is hoped that subscriptions will continue to roll in. Those of our citizens who have not contributed and intend to do so will aid the cause very much by delaying no longer. A dollar given now will be worth two dollars given in the fall. The building is being put up and all the exhibits must be collected before winter sets in.

Mrs. Mollie Allen, of South Fork, Ky., says she has prevented attacks of cholera morbus by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when she felt an attack coming on. Such attacks are usually caused by indigestion and these tablets are just what is needed to cleanse the stomach and ward off the approaching attack. Attacks of bilious colic may be prevented in the same way. For sale by C. K. Wiley, druggist.

MAIL MATTER

To be Handled and Delivered by Baggage Men.

Postmaster-General Payne has decided to make the experiment of employing baggage men on trains which are not provided with mail clerks to take charge of and deliver and open newspaper mail. This decision has been reached after a great deal of consideration and in response to a petition filed by many of the leading newspapers of the country, who asked the Postoffice Department to provide facilities for distribution of open bundles of papers along the lines from trains which carry only closed pouches. There are a large number of such trains, and as the department is not represented by an employee on them, the Postmaster-General decided to assume responsibility for papers not enclosed in the pouches. An investigation was made and an autopsy showed mercurial poison in the stomach of the baby.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery) says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drumsburg, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used. For no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by C. K. Wiley.

INDICTED

The Russellville Woman Accused of Poisoning Her Babe.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Annie Alber Oppenheimer, of Russellville, Ky., was today indicted by the Hamilton county grand jury for murder in the first degree. She is charged with the murder of her infant child.

Mrs. Oppenheimer has been in jail here for several weeks, and upon examining trial was held over to circuit court. The child is alleged to have been poisoned.

Story of the Crime.
Mrs. Oppenheimer came to Cincinnati from Russellville several months ago and secured a place in a lying-in hospital here. A child was born about six weeks ago, and a few days died under circumstances that indicated poison. An investigation was made and an autopsy showed mercurial poison in the stomach of the baby.

The nurse who had attended Mrs. Oppenheimer testified that she had seen white tablets fall from under the woman's pillow, and that they had not been given her by the hospital physicians. Another nurse testified to handing her a box of tablets from a stand in the room. A box was found in which the poison was believed to have been kept. Traces of the drug were found in the box.

Mrs. Oppenheimer's husband had not lived with her for three years, and several sensational letters were found from Russellville parties, indicating that the father of the child was a well-to-do man of that place, and that he evidently had a prearrangement with Mrs. Oppenheimer to put the babe out the way. This party, who signed himself "Prince," and "Jesse" furnished Mrs. Oppenheimer with money.

All of this evidence pointed strongly to murder, as did the fact that Mrs. Oppenheimer made no preparation whatever, as to clothing, etc., for the child. She has been denied bail and will await trial in jail. Her father and mother and probably her parson will provide legal counsel for her.

Popular Cartoons.
The art of newspaper illustration in its present form is a development of recent years. Newspaper cartoons have become a most popular feature of up-to-date metropolitan daily papers. The unique and catchy drawing now appearing daily on the front page of The Chicago Record-Herald is one of the many special features of that great paper. The Record-Herald has been fortunate in securing one of the best young artists in the country to carry out its popular policy of presenting each day a humorous and good-natured cartoon.

Mr. Ralph Wilder is one of the coming men in newspaper work. His success has been as pronounced as it has been rapid. He shows all of the good natured humor and the brighter side of everyday common life, which has carried his work to a very popular success. His drawings are on all of the various subjects of popular interest, political and otherwise. Current events are vividly portrayed in a way that pleases, yet often giving just criticism in a way that does not offend. Through his excellent work on eastern magazines Mr. Wilder first attracted universal attention. The Record-Herald recognized in him at once a cartoonist of unusual promise, and congratulates its readers on having been fortunate enough to engage him.

CHAIRMAN GARY'S REMOVAL.

The removal of Chairman Geo. E. Gary from the head of the Democratic committee, in the midst of the most important campaign that has ever confronted the Democratic party in Kentucky, was a piece of astuteness that will make it impossible to unite the party in the support of the ticket.

Mr. Gary represented the largest faction of the party, if there be factions. He was backed by more than 600 majority of the popular vote, as cast for Judge C. H. Bush, and was supported by 13 of the 24 members of the committee with legal titles to their seats. Being opposed to any kind of machine rule or bossism in the party, Mr. Gary was not the kind of man that could be controlled by professional spoilsmen.

He was in a better position to harmonize the party than any man in the county, but he refused to bow the knee that thrift might follow fawning and his removal was demanded by those in control of the local machine and seeking to make the county committee wholly subservient to their orders. Conservative men among their own friends warned them that to continue the fight inside the party at this time meant hopeless ruin of Democratic prospects, but Mr. Geo. V. Green withdrew for revenge and his son-in-law, Col. Ashby Edmunds, demanded Gary's head, harmony or no harmony. And they got it, both standing by with thumbs turned down, waiting till the last, their followers refusing to go into executive session to deprive their leaders of the pleasure of leasing their eyes upon the bloody spectacle, as Gary's gory head rolled into the basket, with a Beckham appointee at the lever to let the knife fall.

The sweets of revenge are theirs. From the standpoint of a high prize in the rear ranks, claiming the privilege of a Democrat who has voted a straight ticket for nearly a quarter of a century, we make bold to say to Robespierre, Danton and Marat that France is sick of the sight of blood. They have already gone too far. Many Democrats in Christian county have already been alienated by unwise leadership.

As for Mr. Gary, he retires with the respect and confidence of the Democrats of the county and district. He is a business man of character and standing, a gentleman whose honor and integrity of purpose are above question. Always loyal to his party, always ready to give of his time, his energies and his means to promote success, he has for nearly ten years served his party without fee or reward. We can see no advantage to the party in removing such a man from a position of usefulness, because he represents the views not in accord with those of a minority faction of the Democrats of the county.

Mr. James West is a good Democrat, a prominent business man and has ideas much more conservative than the faction behind him will tolerate. The first time he attempts to assert his independence, he is fuses to obey orders, he too will be deposited in the interest of "harmony."

If this warfare upon the friends of C. H. Bush is to wreck the Democratic party in this district, the responsibility will rest upon would-be bosses, who are unwilling for the

At least two prominent Kentucky Republicans, not on the State ticket, are playing for big stakes in the coming election. Balknap was Commissioner Yerkes' choice for Governor, brought out by him, and if Balknap carries Kentucky Yerkes expects to be nominated for Vice-President. Judge George DuRelle, who is chairman of the campaign committee, has his eye on the Supreme Bench, as Justice Harlan's successor. It is believed that his appointment depends on Balknap's election.

Mr. Jeff Strutt, editor of the Maverick Plaindealer, who died a few days ago, was one of the old newspaper men of the State, now growing scarcer every year. He was a soldier under Gen. John H. Morgan and was captured on the Ohio raid. He was 71 years old and leaves a widow, one son and three daughters.

The jury in the Jett and White case brought in a verdict, Friday morning, giving both defendants life sentences. One juror, Jasper King, saved them from hanging. An appeal was taken. ## WARD IN JAIL.

Fugitive Captured in California and Brought to Nashville.

Former Superintendent of Odd Fellows' Home to be Taken to Clarksville for Trial.

Homer D. Ward, formerly Superintendent of the Odd Fellows' Home at Clarksville, charged with criminal intimacy with two little girls who were inmates of the institution, arrived in Nashville Friday night and is now confined in the Davidson county jail.

Ward's hiding place was in the mountains of California, at the little town of Amador, about 45 miles north of Sacramento. For over two months he had been there, holding the position of book-keeper for the Keystone Supply Company, his salary being $100 a month. This company operates gold mines and runs a supply store. Ward's position was in the store.

After leaving Clarksville about eight months ago, since which time no trace of him could be found until the Nashville officers got on his trail, Ward worked his way to the far West, stopping for a few weeks at every large city until he could earn money enough to push further on. An employment bureau at San Francisco secured the position for him with the mining company, and so remote was the place that it seems that he might have spent the remainder of his life there without something miraculous happening in favor of the strong arm of the law. Ward had been living under the assumed name of Will Wright.

Ward will probably be kept in the Nashville jail a few days before being taken to Clarksville. There has been some talk of probable violence to Ward if he is taken back to Clarksville, but it is believed that the citizens will be willing for the law to take its course.

The circuit court of Montgomery county, Tennessee, will convene this week, and it may be that steps will be taken to secure an immediate trial of Ward. One indictment has been returned against him, and another little girl will be taken before the grand jury at this term. President Metzger, of the Board of Trustees of the Odd Fellows' Home, stated that Attorney Dancy Fort, Secretary of the board, has volunteered his services to assist in the prosecution. Other counsel will probably be retained by the Odd Fellows.

STOCKHOLDERS.

Free Transportation to Attend the Annual Meeting at Chicago.

Public notice is hereby given that the regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Illinois Central Railroad Company will be held at its offices in Chicago, Illinois, on Wednesday, October 21, 1903, at twelve o'clock noon.

To permit personal attendance at said meeting there will be issued to each holder of one or more shares of the capital stock of the Illinois Central Railroad Company as registered on the books of the company at the close of business on Tuesday, September 29, 1903, who is of full age, a ticket enabling him, or her, to travel free over the company's lines from the station on the Illinois Central Railroad nearest to his or her registered address to Chicago and return, such ticket to be good for the journey to Chicago only during the four days immediately preceding, and the day of the meeting, and for the return journey from Chicago only on the day of the meeting, and the four days immediately following, when properly countersigned and stamped during business hours—that is to say, between 9 00 a. m. and 2 00 p. m.—in the office of the Assistant Secretary, Mr. W. G. Bruen, in Chicago. Such ticket may be obtained by any holder of stock registered as above, upon application in writing to the President of the company in Chicago. Each application must state the full name and address of the stockholder, and the name of his or her certificate of stock, together with the number and date of such certificate. No more than one person will be credited free in respect to any one holding of stock as registered on the books of the company. A. G. HACKSTAFF, Secretary.

An Invitation to Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Aug. 17.—Kind sir or madam, did you ever live in Cincinnati? Do the memories of your childish days carry you back to long tramps among the green hills of Eden Park, picnics in Burnett Woods, swims in the canal, skating on the basin, and a thousand other diversions of a care-free, happy childhood, in the old home? Perhaps you have sought fame and fortune in other cities, deeming the measure of Cincinnati too small for your dawning ambition. Well and good; but come to the old home in September and celebrate the Fall Festival with us, for we have some things to show you that are worth seeing and a royal welcome awaits you. On the remembered sites of old houses and dingy shops, you will see the magnificent new buildings, some under construction, some, the skyscrapers, interrogating the very heavens. You will observe the only concrete building in the land, an experiment in construction, that has focused the eyes of the building world on Cincinnati. Over a network of trolley lines, the swift cars will bear you along those country roads, known erstwhile to your weary childish feet, long avenues now, these same roads, bordered with hundreds of happy homes, smiling among green lawns. Our most distinguished men will welcome you, and we will banquet you, carry you in procession, show you our Fall Festival and our great Industrial Exposition, and will proudly exhibit to you new and greater Cincinnati, of which perhaps you know nothing, but with which we desire you to become acquainted. On Home Comer's Day, Sept. 7th, we expect to see you in old Cincinnati. From east, from west, remember, "Homes' Best."

Mrs. Williams Passes Away in New York Sanitarium.

Mrs. Cora Blackwell Williams,
wife of Mr. Ben P. Williams, died Thursday in a sanitarium at Sara-

her home with his family.

She was about 25 years old and is survived by a husband and one child only a few months old.

The remains arrived in Clarke-ville Saturday and were interred in Greenwood cemetery. Dr. Fruit attended the burial.

NEW I. C. SCHEDULE.

Paducah-Cairo Division of Road
Formally Opened.

Morning Train Now Leaves Hopkinsville One Hour and Forty Minutes Later.

A new schedule went into effect on this division of the I. C. Sunday.
Only two trains are affected, the early morning out-going passenger and the incoming night train, Train
No. 332, which formerly left this city at 5 o'clock a. m., now leaves at 6:40 a. m. the night train which formerly arrived at 9:25 now reaches here at 11:10 p. m. The morning train now runs through from Hopkinsville to Cairo and returns here at night. The Hopkinsville train will make connection at Cairo for Chicago and St. Louis. The Paducah-Cairo Division has just been completed and the first scheduled train passing over the new road
was the Hopkinsville accommodation, which made the round trip
Sunday. Passengers leaving here at 6:40 a. m. arrive in Cairo at 11:35
a. m.

With the opening of the new branch of the Illinois Central four divisions of the road will enter Paducah—Louisville division, Tennessee division, St. Louis division and the Paducah-Cairo division.

Approximately, the new branch,
which is about 35 miles long, cost, $2,000,000. Originally it was to cost $900,000. The excessive expense was caused by many washouts during the high water last winter and spring. Portions of the roadbed had to be built as many as three times. There was also considerable expense in connection with suits for right-of-way. These figures do not include rolling stock.

WISDOM'S WAY.

Unfailing Method of Securing Success in Any Business.

If anyone wants to know why the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers Enormous Shows United is so successful they have only to look about and see at every hand their advertising. If they do such a world of business, it is because they do a corresponding world of advertising. The same principle holds true with the business done
by any of the local merchants.
Alexander T. Stewart, pioneer of the great merchant princes in this country, used to say that at least one-third of a merchant's investment should be in advertising, and the remaining two thirds in his stock. Merchants like John Wanamaker, Seigel & Cooper, and others, of the best department establishments throughout the country, as a matter of fact, spend about as much money in advertising as they do in buying stock. This does not necessarily mean that they must make one hundred per cent. profit in order to do so as might appear on the surface. The greatest item of expense of such great circus establishments as the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers Enormous Shows United is that of advertising. Their enormous success shows the wisdom of their policy in that direction. These great shows will appear here on Thursday;
August 27.

DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION

Must be Made or R. F. D. Routes Suspended.

Congress at its next session will have to authorize a deficiency appropriation of $6,000,000, or the establishment of rural free delivery routes will have to be suspended from January 1 to June 30. The astounding discovery has just been made by the postoffice authorities that half of the $12,500,000 appropriated for the rural free delivery service during the present fiscal year has been suspended. Of this sum only sufficient remains to continue the development of the system for the current year. It will be exhausted by Jan. 1.

Keep the body healthy at this season by using Prickly Ash Bitters. It is a necessary condition to successfully resist malarial germs.

PEARL FISHING

A Profitable Industry in Some Regions.

William E. Curtis, in the Chicago Record-Herald, writing from the pearl fishery of the upper Mississippi river, says:

Pearls are not numerous, but some big stories are told of valuable finds. A "clammer" may work all his life without finding one,
while his neighbor may pick up a fortune unconsciously any day.
The largest pearl found this season was taken out of a pool of the Mississippi near Prairie du Chien, Wis., by a young boy. It was of perfect shape, pure white and weighed 185 grams. It was sold to a local jeweler on speculation for $2,675, but is supposed to be worth several times that amount. Pearls worth from $50 to $500 are found occasionally, frequently enough to keep up the excitement. Last year at least a dozen were found that brought over $1,000 each, and a hundred or more that were sold for at least $100 each. Tiffany and other dealers send out buyers, who make their headquarters at La Crosse and other cities, and cruise up and down in steam launches visiting the clam camps which are scattered along the river.

An inferior variety of pearls of imperfect shape or color or with flaws that disfigure them are known as "sauses" by the fishermen and "baroques" in trade. They are found more frequently than the perfect pearls and sell for from 25 cents up to $25, according to their quality.

Don't neglect the warnings of nature. If your appetite is poor, breath bad, tongue coated, you will be sick unless you take steps to put your system in good condition.
Prickly Ash Bitters is the remedy you need. It cleanses the entire system. R. C. Hardwick.

Denies a Report.

Louisville, Aug. 12.—President
Barnard, of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse company denies the report published in New York that the Continental Tobacco company is to acquire 51 per cent. of the warehouse stock.

Portify the body to resist malarial germs by putting the system in perfect order. Prickly Ash Bitters is a wonderful system regulator.

SHOT DEAD.

Homicide Near Howell Last Saturday.

Jabin White Slain By Jimmie
Lewis Hart Without Apparent Cause.

Jimmie Lewis Hart shot and killed Jabin White Saturday, on the farm of Howard Brame, near Howell. White was a negro boy about 14 years of age. Hart went to the home of the boy's mother and telling him that he had told him he would kill him on that day, shot him with a pistol. Further details are meager.

The coroner held an inquest and the verdict fixed the crime on Hart.
The latter was arrested and is now
in jail.

PUGH TURNED DOWN

McInerney Forces Democratic Committee to Call Primary.

Covington, Ky., Aug. 14.—The Anti-Pugh faction of the Democratic party won a signal victory tonight when the county executive committee held a meeting and decided on a primary for the selection of city and county nominees.
The date selected was Saturday, September 26. This is considered a big victory for Sheriff McInerney and his followers. They have been demanding a primary for months,
and went so far as to get up a petition which contained nearly 5,000 signers, which they presented to the committee and also Governor
Beckham asking for a primary.

Beckham declined to interfere,
but the McInerney forces made such a hard fight that Pugh's committee could not turn them down, as it was made plain to them that if a fair primary was not held there would be no chance for the local Democratic ticket in Kenton this fall. The calling of a primary practically means the defeat of Judge James P. Tarvin for the re-nominations for circuit judge, and many fear it means the overthrow of Joe Pugh.

The Commonwealth's side of the Caleb Powers case was closed at Georgetown yesterday.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood,
if they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected
kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or untidy heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.
It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake
by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases
and is sold on its merits

SNOWBALL FIGHT

In August Enjoyed by Workmen
in Pennsylvania.

Employees of the Hawes Fire
Brick Company of Philadelphia, had a snowball fight one day last week. Last winter a large quantity of snow was carried out of the yards and dumped behind the stock sheds in a great pile. Later in the winter ashes were thrown over the snow. On removing these ashes it was found that the snow had not melted. The gang of workmen was divided into two armies, and a winter carnival was held under the hot August sun.

RAILWAY TO EUROPE
New Interest in the Project of New York to Paris by Rail.

The idea is not so chimerical as it would seem at first thought.
—To Tunnel Beneath
Behring Straits.
When a few years ago some explorers and engineers suggested an all-rail to Paris via a tunnel under the Behring straits, it was considered as the wildest of dreams. But that there is more to the scheme than idle speculation is evident from the fact that the projectors of the new road (French and Russian capitalists and the bankers), have just filed a petition with Secretary Hitchcock, of the interior department, for approval of the proposed route. This petition will undoubtedly be followed by an application to congress for a land grant through Alaska. Col. James Hamilton Lewis, of Chicago, Holmes Condit, former solicitor for the department of justice, and Charles H.
Aldrich, of Chicago, are the attorneys for the projectors. The petition, it is believed, is a forerunner to asking the United States to neutralize the straits between nations, so that, in the event of war with China and Japan or Russia, no advantage will be given to the enemies of Russia.

The tunnel under the straits would be between Cape Prince of Wales, the most westerly point of Alaska, and East Cape, the most easterly point in Siberia, and will, according to a report of the engineers, prove a comparatively easy task, for beneath the water, which in no place is over 23 fathoms, the formation is not of rock, but soft silt or clay. No blast would be necessary, and the Diomed Islands in the straits are so placed as to offer the most convenient means of ventilation of the tunnel. The straits, commonly reported to be from 17 to 30 miles wide, are actually 40,
and the first island is 15 miles from East Cape, the second is 15 miles from that,
and the third five miles from Cape Prince of Wales. Harry de Windt, the explorer, journalist and engineer, who with a party of Russians visited the straits in 1898, declared after he had carefully surveyed the situation, that the difficulties to be encountered in tun-neling and constructing roads in Alaska to connect with the trans-Siberian road were not one-quarter those to be encountered in the construction of the White Pass railroad, dreamed of ten years ago by J. J. Hill, for farther north the mountains diminish and the valleys thicken, would be within 80 miles of Cape Prince of Wales, run north and south.
According to the present plans, the Trans-Alaska Railroad company, of which Mr. J. J. Fry, of Denver, Colo., is president, will construct the road
of 2,600 miles, from the Gulf of Wyk,
in the Russian government will operate the Siberian side of the road. The White Pass railroad is paying enormously, and it is certain that the new road would pay equally well for there are vast forests, tin deposits
at Cape Prince of Wales, copper deposits and gold in the area, a value which is not yet known or realized.
The entire cost of building the connecting lines in Alaska and Siberia, and constructing the tunnel would not be as great as that of the New York subway. It is planned to make the road
single tracked for freight with sidings, and will enable a train to pull out of Paris, and three weeks later enter New York city.
Engines of a peculiar type could be constructed to obviate the annoyance of the expansion and the contraction of metal, for in midwinter the temperature at East Cape is 75 degrees below zero, and in the summer time for a brief period is 90 degrees above. The engines would have to be fitted with lamps in the winter time. It is certain that within the next 12 years the electric engine will be perfected, and this will simplify the project of railroading in the arctic.
Forty engineers who were sent out by the Russian government for the sole purpose of surveying the proposed road have planned no mountain climbing or tunneling. They are taking advantage of the mountains from Irkutsk to Yokutsa, a distance of 2,600 miles. This section is now under construction. From Yokutsa the road will extend in a straight line to Verkhoyansk, and then strike due northeast to Verkhoyansk; then south 100 miles, and then to East Cape. Considerable labor would be used in Siberia, and the forests would supply the ties and lumber for 1,000 miles of sheds in Siberia and Alaska.
Mr. Louis Lobel, member of the Geographical society, and one of those interested in the great scheme, passed through San Francisco recently.
While talking of the plans declared that 12 years would see the road and tunnel completed and trains running.

GUIDE THOU MY WAY.

O Father, when I dimly see
The path whereon my feet might stray,
With longing eyes I turn to Thee,
And humbly I say:
Guide Thou my way.

With my weak strength I dare not try
To grasp thy tempter's hand to stay;
Thou alone I must rely
To make me stronger day by day,
So guide my way.

Let not my spirit prove unkind,
Nor any righteous act delay;
But give me a pleasant mind,
And lead me where I pray:
Guide Thou my way.

O teach me that the soul's best end
Is won in usefulness it may
Upon Thy sacred rites attend,
And let me never stray:
Guide Thou my way.

Guide Thou my way clear to the last,
While trying hard to do my best,
And may my record of the past
Secure to me eternal rest:
—George McKnight, in Boston Budget.

A USEFUL BURGLAR.

Molly Carson stood at the top of the kitchen stairs shielding with glowing fingers the candle that she held above her head. She heard mice scurrying about among the pans that Aunt Sally had left on the table when she went to her cabin for the night, and she shrank from venturing into the darkness below. But as she hesitated, peering anxiously down the flight, a groan from another room needed her reluctance. Lifting her skirts she ran quickly over the stairs, for Edward, her husband, had been seized at midnight with a violent headache, the result of riding too long in the afternoon, and was begging deliciously for ice. So ice Molly must have, even if it meant braving the terrors below.

The refrigerator was in a lean-to opening from the kitchen. Mrs. Carson found the door shut and fastened securely against all her pushings and shakings, and the end of the key plinked audibly at her through the keyhole, as if taunting her inability.

Running upstairs, she left the candle on the table in the dining-room, and went out of doors to try to open the outside shed door. The moon shone dimly through fleecy April clouds, and a whippoorwill called insistently from a nearby field, in the note that sounds more melancholy in the North Carolina mountains than anywhere else in the world.

The outer door proved as obstinate as the inner. Molly rattled it in vain, and then fell to pulling at the wire netting over a little window beside it. The tears rolled down her cheeks as she tugged with no success.

A ragged bit of gauze tore her fingers, but she did not mind the pain. The sound of Edward's voice inside the house, rising and falling in the babble of delirium, spurred her to continued effort, and deafened her to the cry of the whippoorwill. She did not even hear the sound of approaching footsteps, until a man came around the corner of the house so quickly that he almost ran into her.

"Well!" he exclaimed, standing immovable.

"Heavens!" she cried at the same moment, shaking her head to foot, and hardly able to articulate. "What do you want?"

Her heart thumped furiously, but through her fear there ran the thought that whatever happened Edward must have the ice.

The man regained his self-possession as he saw her plight.

"It looks like we'll all on the same business," he chuckled, pointing to the window, and giving her a poke in the arm with a dirty thumb.

"I don't understand you; I am Mrs. Carson," said Molly, throwing back her fair head haughtily. Then, recalled by his gesture to her occupation, she forgot her terror in the thought that there was a man—a strong man—who could help her. She began again to work feverishly at the netting.

"Mr. Carson's very ill. He's out of his head, and I want to get some ice for him. The door from the kitchen is locked," she explained. "There!" triumphantly, as one corner gave way in response to a vigorous tug. "Now you pull on that," she commanded, and the would-be burglar, nothing loath, gave a jerk that brought off the whole covering.

"Splendid!" exclaimed Molly, and prepared to climb in at once.

"No, you don't, ma'am," said the man. "Let me go in first and assist you—all," gallantly.

Hepushed his bulky frame through the small casement, and then helped Molly, with a caution not to "laxate" herself. Without a thought for the strangeness of her position, locked into the shed with this rough fellow, Molly went at once to the refrigerator.

"Unlock that door at the left,

please," she said. "You'll find a candle and matches on the shelf over the kitchen table. Now," with uplifted voice as she heard the splutter of the match, "bring me a pan to put the ice in. Thank you. What a relief it is to have this!" and filling the tin she crossed the kitchen and began to go upstairs, so absorbed in her purpose that she no longer noticed her companion.

"Here you, ma'am, don't you all go drunk, but I happen to have a different opinion, and it is based on actual experience," remarked a young man who has a fondness for dogs, to a reporter for the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "Several days ago I read in the Times-Democrat of a French scientist who had experimented with the animals by administering alcohol. He got gold-fish on sprees, made inebriates of cats and put water wagon notions in the heads of more than one canine. This learned man of science enriched the world to a little extent by his experiments, showing the effect of alcohol on animals. He stated that in order to get alcohol into a dog's stomach it was necessary to use tubes. The exhilarating effect was not long in showing, and he observed that the dog became very playful. The aftermath was a state of lassitude and drowsiness and remorse. Now I must dissent from these scientific findings to some extent. In the first place it is not absolutely necessary to use tubes in introducing the fluid in the case of a dog. I believe a dog thinks it respectable to do anything a man does. Of course, the dog is in error on this score, but he will emulate his master in spite of the moral principle that may be involved. A friend of mine had a dog that contracted all the vices of the evil human company he kept. I was one of his regular associates, too. We were in the habit of meeting at a certain place and time and patronizing the nearest dealer in liquors that are sold by the pailful. The dog was a full-fledged member of the club. He always frisked about the house until every member of the club reported and then he would sit down in the circle with as much satisfaction as if he were master of ceremonies. When one mentioned a bucket of beer that dog would rush away and get the pail. He would also accompany the man who went for the beer, and on his return it would do you good to see the glad expression on his face. He always took a drink with the gang. His beer was poured into a pan. On one occasion all of the boys got into a lively mood, so did the dog. In fact, it was near daylight when we broke up. The dog had taken a drink as often as any other member of the party. He was drunk. He started on a rampage and woke up every boarder in the house. I never saw a more frolicsome or hilarious jag. In running down the steps he fell. He broke a leg and was otherwise bruised, and the next day he was wrapped in bandages, but when the gang met about midnight he was there and quaffed as often as the other members of the club, despite his disfigurement. In the case of that dog, if we had used tubes, the expenses of the club would have been doubled, and no doubt the dog's pleasure would have increased in the same proportion. He was a jolly, good fellow, that dog, and when he died we missed him greatly, as he was about the most interesting member of the coterie." No dissenting voice was heard.

"Well, I'll be hanged!" he said, slowly. Then, as his hostess had not locked or even shut the door at the head of the stairs, he followed in her steps.

Molly found Edward in wild delirium that even the ice did not allay. "What shall I do? Oh, what shall I do?" was her dumb cry, as she struggled fiercely with her, and in answer came the thought of the burglar. Leaving Edward to fate for a few minutes she ran to seek her fellow-housebreaker. She found him in the dining-room looking over the silver by the light of the candle she had left there. As she entered he turned, startled, and made a nervous gesture toward his pocket.

"Oh, I'm so glad you're still here," cried Molly, excitedly. "Please come with me. Mr. Carter is dreadfully delirious, and I don't know what to do. Come," and she twitched his sleeve to hasten his hesitating progress.

McClatchie followed slowly, but once in the sickroom his diffidence vanished. Many a case of delirium tremens among his friends had given him confidence as a nurse. Molly became his subordinate with instinctive surrender, for she saw that with the sick man he was alert and capable, and showed a marked gentleness—bred, perhaps, by his vocation.

Three o'clock had struck before Carson sank into the quiet of exhaustion. Molly's face fairly glowed with gratitude as she turned to McClatchie.

"You've been so good—to good," she cried. "I shall never forget it."

The man grinned with honest pride. "Though the smile did something to redeem his face, Molly appreciated for the first time since his abrupt appearance that rough-looking fellow he was. Now that all was quiet she grew eager for him to leave.

"If you're going through the village," she said, "would you stop at Dr. Brady's and ask him to come here at once? It's the rock house opposite the post office."

The grin faded from McClatchie's face.

"The rock house opposite the post office?" he repeated. "I'd rather not go there, ma'am. You see—you see, I've visited there once to-night already."

"But why should that prevent you? Oh! You mean you—? O-oh!" Molly stared at the man with some little fear as he yawned with a man-dawned on her, but her gaze at him comprehended Edward, and a greater fear seized her as she thought of her situation if left alone with him during another paroxysm. Drawing closer to McClatchie she looked guiltily about, and then whispered:

"Did anyone see you?"

"No."

"Then if I should write a note couldn't you leave it there? You see—"

Her voice broke, and she made a gesture of helplessness. The suspicion of tears was too much for Gus. "Go ahead and write it. I'll do it," he growled.

At half-past four the old doctor was with Molly.

"Was I compounding a felony or anything?" she asked, smiling up at him.

And McClatchie, walking over the sleepers on his way to Denby, was experiencing a sensation new to him—a yearning for a woman's love like Molly's for her husband, and a feeling of complacency over his night's work, even though his pockets were empty.—N. Y. Times.

The Sea-Serpent.

The sea-serpent seems to be taken more seriously by some zoologists than by the general public. A few years ago a Dutch naturalist reviewed the evidence of alleged eye-witnesses, and concluded that such an animal may exist, that instead of being a serpent it is probably a mammal of the kind called Pinipede, which includes the eels, and that we may expect to find it about 200 feet long. It must resemble the ancient Plesiosaur, with a small head, very long neck, spindle-shaped body with two pairs of flippers, and a tail comprising half its total length. Later reports, with the fact that so large a mammal as the okapi has remained unknown on land until the twentieth century, causes a leading French naturalist, M. Racovitz, to express his belief in this hypothetical marine monster.

PLAYED BALL.

Hopkinsville and Cairo Tie Score For Several Innings.

Locals Won in Fourteenth Inning, After One of the Most Exciting Games Ever Witnessed Here.

The Jackson team, after quitting the field before the game was over Tuesday, and refusing to play on Wednesday, lined up Thursday and succeeded in winning from the locals by the score of 5 to 3. The last game was a very interesting one, both clubs putting up fine ball. Hopkinsville made ten hits and only one error, while the Tennesseans made seven hits and three errors. Cairo played here Friday and Saturday, the third of the series being played on Sunday at Cairo. On Friday it took fourteen innings to decide the game. Hopkinsville won, the score being 6 to 5. At the end of the ninth inning the score was a tie, standing 4 to 4. In the tenth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth innings neither team was able to score. In the fourteenth Cairo made one run and in the last half of the inning Hopkinsville scored twice, thus bringing to a close the longest and most exciting game ever played on the local diamond. The feature of the contest was the phenomenal pitching of Edwards, who struck out eighteen men and held the heavy hitting Cairo boys down at all critical points. It was a battle royal between the two best pitchers in the league, Edwards for the locals and Brockett for the Egyptians, and Edwards won.

Saturday's game was also a very pretty exhibition of good ball playing. Cairo won by the score of 5 to 3. Bomar and Street composed the battery for Hopkinsville. Large crowds attended both games. The Hopkinsville team is in Paducah for a series of three games, beginning yesterday. Thursday, Friday and Saturday they play at Cairo and next Monday they begin a series at Jackson, Tenn., with the Jackson team.

The local team will return here for a series beginning Aug. 27.

RARE EXPERIENCES

Of Man Who Attended Mountaineers' Campmeetings.

Rev. Dr. C. W. Blodgett, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, has just returned from Breathitt and adjoining counties in the feudal district of Kentucky, where he had the rare experience of attending a camp meeting of mountaineers, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Dr. Blodgett became much interested in the religious exercises, but just before he left they warmed up to a fever heat, which made him feel somewhat uncomfortable and served to open his eyes as to the true condition of the fraternal feeling of the mountaineers to each other. At the campmeeting there were two factions who for a long time kept under cover on account of the religious influences of the preaching and singing.

One afternoon an offensive remark was let drop by one of the factionists against the other, and this ignited the whole slumbering mass into flame as if by a flash. Revolvers and shotguns were drawn immediately, and it looked as though a feudal battle were imminent. At this juncture the eight or nine mountain evangelists took in the situation and proceeded to the rescue.

Marching close together with their Bibles in their hands, they intoned one of their favorite hymns, and boldly stepped through the threatening lines. The effect was magical. The weapons were put aside immediately, each went his way and joined in the singing. Dr. Blodgett says that the mountaineers are deeply impressed with religion; that they are honest, sincere and truthful Christians, but when it comes to revenge they take it out in human blood.

They believe in the old Scriptural adage: "Eye for an eye; tooth for a tooth." Mr. Blodgett proposes to give the feudists another visit, and has been invited to preach to them.

SHOULD HE HAVE PROPOSED.

George Hibbard's Story in McClure's for August.

In his dainty story, "The Requirement of the Situation," in the August McClure's, George Hibbard puts an interesting and debatable case. A man loves a girl and has reason to believe that a proposal would be acceptable. But instead of smoothing the hero's path by, say, the hoary device of allowing him to perform some valorous service for his sweetheart, such as saving her life, the author reverses the usual method by making the girl save the man's life. Is a proposal still in order? How will the girl interpret? How are the requirements of the situation to be met? The author's solution is clever and unexpected.

SMITHSON WINS

The Gold Watch in Our Ugly Man Contest

Tuggle a Close Competitor, Gets Second Honors in the Race—Spicer Third in Race.

The closing day of the Kentuckian's contest Saturday to determine the ugliest man in Christian county, brought on a neck and neck finish between Charlie Smithson, Mr. Lowry, and Aubrey Tuggle, of Hopkinsville.

Smithson on Friday morning had a lead of 300 votes, and during the

CHARLIE SMITHSON,
Winner of the First Prize.

day Friday this was gradually increased to about 1000, as nearly as could be determined. This gave Smithson a nice margin of 5,300 votes and Tuggle about 4,300.

Both contestants had been reserving strength for weeks and when Mr. Tuggle produced in one box 4,855 coupons, it looked like the race was over. Smithson's friends having up to that time brought in about 1,000 more. At noon Mr. Tuggle still had a lead of 2,500. Smithson had not then reached town but later it became apparent that he was busy if not in sight. After one o'clock a steady flow of Smithson coupons began to come in. Mr. Smithson himself arrived with 2,300 votes and by three o'clock the race was nip and tuck, though neither side knew how close it really was.

During the last hour several of Smithson's friends dashed up in buggies with belated ballots and a Tuggle man from Howell brought in several hundred and deposited them in sealed envelopes. Smithson men from the country had been dropping in all day and paying subscriptions, enabling them to 40 votes each. Some in their eagerness paid two years ahead. The finish was as exciting as a contest for office.

Mr. Smithson, with his face wearing a pained expression of mingled fear and doubt, was even uglier than when he sat for his picture. He was backed by friends willing to bet on his entire absence of beauty, whether he won or not.

Mr. Tuggle was on hand neat and debonair, in a shirtwaist and Panama hat. His rugged features wore no smile of confidence to brighten them, and his face wore a standing advertisement of the merits of his cause.

The last ballots were dropped in the box ten minutes to four. Smithson nervously watched the door, declaring that he still had more votes out. They did not come and at four o'clock the polls closed. Mr. E. W. Stegar, of Longview, for Smithson, and Mr. Emmett Jones, of Hopkinsville, for Tuggle, were named for judges by the interested parties. The two judges selected Mr. W. G. Fox as the third judge and the count began. It was finished in thirty minutes, the closeness making it doubtful to the last. The figures as totaled up gave Smithson a total of less than 1,000 in a majority of nearly 20,000. The other seven candidates received about 500 votes all together. The official count is shown by the following table:

Charlie Smithson, Longview, 10,305
L. A. Tuggle, City, 9,991
S. S. Spicer, Beverly, 1792

Dan Caggett, 90

Total, 25,183

Two or three thousand ballots cast for candidates who retired from time to time in the interest of one or the other of the leaders, are not shown in this exhibit.

The first prize, a handsome gold watch, was delivered to Mr. Smithson, and he received the congratulations of the crowd present, including his chief competitor. He wore the watch home, but will return it to be engraved as an heirloom in his family in the generations to come. Mr. Smithson is not ashamed of the honor that has come to him through the votes of his friends and those who know him best. He believes in the sentiment expressed by an unknown poet in the verse:

Beauty is but skin deep.

But ugly's to the bone;

Beauty soon will fade away,

But ugly holds its own.

He confidently expects to "hold his own" and live up to the reputation he has made.

Mr. Tuggle, being unmarried, received the active support of many young ladies. He feels keenly the disappointment of his defeat, but is proud of it and the magnificent vote his friends rolled up for him. He was presented with an order for the second prize, a silk hat valued at $5.00, but he preferred a suit of the stock of J. H. Anderson & Co.

Mr. S. S. Spicer, who won the third prize, a pocket-knife, was not present. He was busily engaged in barbecuing the meat for a big barbecue at Herndon and could not be on hand.

This ends perhaps the most unique contest ever conducted in the county. It was begun five months ago, and has caused almost as much interest as was shown in our great contest of last winter to determine the most popular young lady in the county. This honor went to Miss Alberta Baker, of Juliet, who received an elegant suit of bedroom furniture.

The two contests have left the Kentuckian's subscription books in better shape than for many years, and given it a larger paid circulation than ever before enjoyed by any paper in the county.

Escaped an Awful Fate.

Mr. H. Higgins of Melbourne, Fla., writes: "My doctor told me I had consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It has cured my life. This great cure is needed for all throat and lung diseases by R. C. Hardwick Drugstore. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

at four o'clock the polls closed. Mr. E. W. Stegar, of Longview, for Smithson, and Mr. Emmett Jones, of Hopkinsville, for Tuggle, were named for judges by the interested parties. Two or three thousand ballots cast for candidates who retired from time to time in the interest of one or the other of the leaders, are not shown in this exhibit.

The first prize, a handsome gold watch, was delivered to Mr. Smithson, and he received the congratulations of the crowd present, including his chief competitor. He wore the watch home, but will return it to be engraved as an heirloom in his family in the generations to come. Mr. Smithson is not ashamed of the honor that has come to him through the votes of his friends and those who know him best. He believes in the sentiment expressed by an unknown poet in the verse:

Beauty is but skin deep.

But ugly's to the bone;

Beauty soon will fade away,

But ugly holds its own.

He confidently expects to "hold his own" and live up to the reputation he has made.

Mr. Tuggle, being unmarried, received the active support of many young ladies. He feels keenly the disappointment of his defeat, but is proud of it and the magnificent vote his friends rolled up for him. He was presented with an order for the second prize, a silk hat valued at $5.00, but he preferred a suit of the stock of J. H. Anderson & Co.

Mr. S. S. Spicer, who won the third prize, a pocket-knife, was not present. He was busily engaged in barbecuing the meat for a big barbecue at Herndon and could not be on hand.

This ends perhaps the most unique contest ever conducted in the county. It was begun five months ago, and has caused almost as much interest as was shown in our great contest of last winter to determine the most popular young lady in the county. This honor went to Miss Alberta Baker, of Juliet, who received an elegant suit of bedroom furniture.

The two contests have left the Kentuckian's subscription books in better shape than for many years, and given it a larger paid circulation than ever before enjoyed by any paper in the county.
